Imperial Oil Company Prepared to Watch Operation of Alberta Act

BAR TO COURT ACTION DRAWS COUNSEL FIRE

Agricultural Committee Hears Details Of Oil Fields

Willingness to watch operation of the act before passing judgment was expressed by H. G. Nolan, of Calgary, on behalf of Imperial Oil Company, representing before the agricultural committee of the Alberta legislature Friday morning, in the course of a test, said Mr. Nolan, was "far to court questioning of the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board."

The committee heard Mr. Nolan and J. H. McLeod, president of Imperial Oil company, and John W. Smith, K.C., counsel for the board, draw a parallel between the power of the board and that of the Bank of Canada, and Mr. McLeod parallel brought contrary opinion from J. C. Macmillan, counsel for a group of oil companies.

COMPANY WILL AID

Mr. Nolan told the committee he had not come to make any statement on behalf of Imperial Oil, Ltd., but that his company would lend any assistance in conservation or protection and it wanted to watch the work of the board under the act.

The major companies were entitled to the same fair treatment as other companies, he believed, this would be given them.

Asked if there were any objections to the act, Mr. Nolan said the companies did not want the act to be so bar to access to the courts. If it were changed to allow conservation, the effect of the decision of the courts, the rights of individuals might be destroyed in the process, he said.

It was impossible to tell what effect the act would have until the orders of the board were known.

Mr. McLeod said the act had been in effect prior to the board taking it over and that during the time it was directed by the oil companies it was a basic market requirement. Royalties had well been perverted the same as other wells, he said.

SOLD FOR MARKETS

Companies had sold their production to Royalties to be assured of markets, he said, in answering questions. Some had made contracts since the board had taken over.

On Aug. 1, Royalties held the contract to supply the domestic gas distribution company with gas.

On Oct. 1, Royalties had several intervening wells, he said.

When Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of natural resources, asked if the major companies would not have 90 per cent control of Turner Valley field unless there was a change in the law, Mr. McLeod said that was giving him too much credit. And Mr. McLeod added, he was not opposing conservation or protection.

Quizzed by J. S. V. Mason, K.C., Mr. McLeod recognized how Royal Canadian Air Force planes had been shot down in the Turner Valley fields.

Asked if the major companies should be held responsible, he said he did not know where the question lay on that matter by Mr. Maynard.

Paralleled between the powers of the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board and the Board of Railway Commissioners in respect to court appeals was drawn by A. E. Macmillan, counsel for the board, in examination of J. C. Mahaffy of Calgary before the committee.

The committee, hearing representations on the new oil and gas conservation bill now before the legislature, adjourned Saturday night. Mr. Mahaffy, appearing as counsel for a group of independent companies, expressed fear that certain actions would threaten existing

FIRE CHIEF DUTTON

Inspector J. R. Robertson of the Department of Transport found deep fissures in the hull of the ship, and the hull plates were bent, indicating that the propeller of the ship had apparently plowed along for about 100 feet.

The marks were twin rows of parallel, diagonal cuts in the hull, of them six inches deep. Experts said the propeller had apparently hit a rock and spun, causing the propeller revolution, and from measurement of the distances between the marks it was possible to determine the engine speed, make assumptions in regard to motor failure.

Mr. Robertson said as they approached the site, the propeller blades would be twisted backward, and the ship would stop, and then it would begin to crash again. But it still remains to be solved why the ship went down low, why it did not return to port after the take-off. Even with twists and turns it apparently reached another half-mile before crashing.

Mr. Miller, it is understood, was to go to Europe to get his financial expertise, but he will be unable to continue in office until he can return to the province.

President of private business interests Mr. Miller's resignation.

MINER ALARM

Following a statement of private business H. R. Miller, K.C., president of the Alberta Conservative Association, that he would resign at the end of the session of the meeting, but when the international situation became tense Chief Dutton informed him that Switzerland had no place for her.

Mrs. Dutton reports an interest in Europe and exciting summer, but says she has no desire to leave Canada.

"The more I see of other places the better I like it," she said with a smile at Saturday's party.

NOT EXCITED

Most amazing thing he noticed in Europe was the fact that Englishmen are as excited about other people in Europe, "we even in Canada are not as excited about other people in Europe," he said.

"Don't let anybody tell you that the English are scared of Hitler or anybody else," he said. "They are scared of Hitler, but they are not scared of me."

He said he was not worried about what was going to happen to him in Europe.

Paul Brodt, president of Manitoba Pulp & Paper Co., said he felt the removal of the British preference of what was not of great consequence.

REMOVING NIGHT HELP

He said his experience had shown the British preference had not lessened the demand for Canadian pulpwood.

Mr. Brodt said the removal of the British preference would permit the shipment of Canadian wheat through New Zealand and Australia, thus giving Canada the benefits of competitive shipping rates.

D. G. McKenzie, vice-president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, also agreed the British preference on wheat had been of disputable value.

BOB SHIELS

"I saw sandbags piled in the front of houses in the city of Weyburn and all were called out to dig bob shells in the boulevards. But they didn't seem frightened, and I think they were not afraid, as they still appeared, though the sandbags had been taken away before the air raid."

"The fitness of eight, all the way to the shore of Canada," he said.

Mr. McKenzie said he had got home.

"And I think we'll both be satisfied looking back on the British," he said.

Mr. Brodt said he was in favor of the British.

BONNYVILLE FARMER USES BUCKSHOT TO STOP THEFTS

A Bonnyville farmer has found a way to prevent thefts who have been scouring the district in the past few days.

He has set up a charge in the legs of his hens which will keep the bravest burglar away," says this sturdy tiller of the soil.

The other night he was awakened by the furious cackling of his hens and the plaintive peeps of his turkeys. He had been disturbed for the tryst old market and is alleged to have unloosed it in the name of the fleeing burglar.

During his morning meal he reports the loss of six of his fat turkeys.

"I'll get you a doggo to a dollar they won't be back," says he.

Numerous other petty thievery have been reported here, including theft of clothing, groceries and tools in the village in broad daylight.

YOUTHS JAILED FOR ATTEMPTED BANK ROBBERY

Calgary, Nov. 19.—Charged with attempted robbery and arson in connection with the attempt to rob the Dominion bank here Tuesday, two Calgary youths Leonard Hogart and Colwyn Hartifice, previously arrested Friday, were released.

JAMES KIRLEY, 19, was captured in the bank after a teller had fired a bullet through the window, and told him to leave. Kirby is accused of having been a member of the gang which underwrote the robbery.

Kirley was charged with assault with intent to rob and will come up for a hearing in police court Nov. 20.

Police refused to give details of the arrests last night. It was learned that the youths, who were youths formerly worked at the bank, had been robbing it.

Kirley was arrested at his home; the other taken from his residence at the Calgary Technical school.

Hedgehogs, charged with conspiracy, were released on bail of $1,000 each.

On Friday and Saturday of next week the Edmonton Civic Opera Society will present at the Empire Theatre Flotow's opera Martini, the first of two new operas scheduled for the season. Once popular everywhere this opera still retains a place on the stage of every opera land. Charles Manners, founder of the opera company which bore his name, was known as being "always acceptable" to his patrons. In view of the interest shown by the Civic Society by the Operatic Society—always a master of musical moment—there are now ten castings of this opera in nearly 100 years old, which command themselves to attention.

Like many other famous works, Martini was first produced at Vienna in November of 1847. It quickly spread throughout the world, although London did not receive it until 1852. It is said, undeniably tunefulness of the melodies and the bright, light atmosphere of the music account wholly accounts for its enduring popularity. There is an abundance of vocal parts, some of which harmonies that are pleasing and appropriate. The orchestra has a picture always adding to the scene. Vienna's offering. When Martini was mentioned to Flotow it was usually to praise him for his Romantic Summer which he introduced into the score, a fact which mortified the composer.

Only one performance of Martini has been performed in this city. That occasion was by the San Carlo Opera Company, with Josephine Lamont and Glorianna Plunkett in the leading roles.

ON Saturday afternoon the Canadian Society of Authors, Dramatists and Musicians held its annual meeting and dinner at the Hotel Macdonald. Numerous distinguished guests were present. There was a hearty response from the audience to an address by Mr. Justice Gordon Slade.

President William Young, in a speech, said that the Society had done well. But to him it had been a success because after the meeting he had a broader view of what was separating him from his colleagues and from society at large.

There was a sharp expression of sympathy with the Society's efforts to improve the conditions of writers and dramatists.

President Young said:

"I am very glad to see that the Society has

Alberta University Cattle Again Best at Toronto Winter Exhibition

CHAMPIONSHIP OF SHORTHORNS IS RETAINED

Royal Fair Title Won For the Third Successive Year

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—Universities of Alberta, for the third time in three years, won the grand champion steer award at the Royal Winter Fair last night when its Killearn Lord Rutherford, a magnificent animal, was chosen by the award and shown during the Canadian Shorthorn Association.

The Edmonton university also retained the title of champion of cattle, which it has held since 1932.

Orchard, Ontario, and Beach Farms, Guelph, Ontario, were the other two marketable steers awarded to the universities.

WINNER SENIOR Calf

University of Alberta's

Crawford's third-place animal is a crossbred steer. Fraleigh placed fourth with an Aberdeen

Angus and Beach Farms fifth with a Shorthorn.

Government was not going into the

for the Dominion Finance minister's proposal to make a bank charter was not taken up.

"The minister is quite simple,"

said Mr. Sackville.

"Nothing would delight the eastern financial interests more than the proposal should be accepted in a more reasonable attitude on the part of his powers, we would respect the effect of a provincial charter," he said.

Opposition members did not oppose the bill, although Mr. G.

O'Connor, Liberal, Edmonton, declared it was a good measure.

Dr. Walter Morris, Liberal

Edmonton, asked details of the payroll, staff and number of employees of the Bank of Canada.

Mr. Law replied that he was pleased with the volume of business done and that one branch had been opened in the city.

In one week, he added, the bank had increased its business 10 per cent.

Mr. O'Connor asked if the government was to turn to the advantage of the banks.

Little Orphan Annie

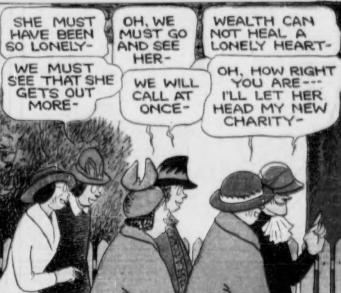

ANTICLIMAX? PROBABLY—CERTAINLY IT WAS A TERRIBLE DISAPPOINTMENT TO THE MORBID ONES WHEN DEAR MR. JUDGE WAS NOT DISCOVERED RECLINING AT THE BOTTOM OF THE OLD WELL—ONLY A SEALED METAL CAN FULL OF PAPERS, WAS FOUND THERE—BUT WHAT PAPERS!

HERE IT IS, PRINTED IN FULL IN THE PAPER—I, URIAH JUDGE, OF MY OWN FREE WILL, CONFESS THAT I PLANNED AND DIRECTED THE MURDER OF CAPTAIN CALEB ALDEN—

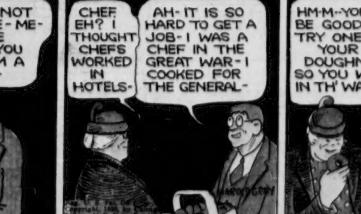

IT'S ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE—NOT TO ME—NO—I NEVER TRUSTED THAT MAN—

HE GOES ON TO CONFESS HOW HE THEN GOT HOLD OF NEARLY ALL OF CAPTAIN ALDEN'S PROPERTY—HE EVEN TELLS HOW HE HAD HIS MEN KILL THREE OF JACK'S TRUCK DRIVERS—

TCH! TCH! TCH! WHATA BEAST! TO THINK THAT HE GOT AWAY—

THE CURIOUS WORLD •PLUTO.

IN 1930, THE DISCOVERY OF THE NINTH MAJOR PLANET OF OUR SOLAR SYSTEM WAS MADE PUBLIC AT THE LOWELL OBSERVATORY, AT FLAGSTAFF, ARIZONA.

ASTRONOMERS AT THIS OBSERVATORY HAD BEEN SEARCHING FOR THIS PLANET FOR YEARS. PERCIVAL LOWELL, FOUNDER OF THE OBSERVATORY, BELIEVED THAT CERTAIN MINUTE DISCREPANCIES IN THE MOTION OF THE PLANET URANUS WERE DUE TO SOME UNKNOWN PLANET FAR OUT BEYOND NEPTUNE.

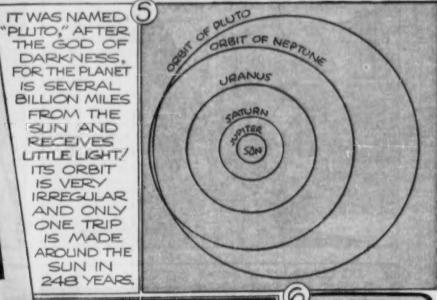

LOWELL DIED IN 1916, BUT THE SEARCH KEPT ON, AND IN JANUARY, 1930, THE NEW PLANET WAS SIGHTED ... A FAINT SPECK ON A PHOTOGRAPHIC PLATE.

To make sure that the object was a true planet, it was studied night after night. Appropriately, the public announcement was made on March 13, the birthday of Lowell.

IT WAS NAMED "PLUTO," AFTER THE GOD OF DARKNESS, FOR THE PLANET IS SEVERAL BILLION MILES FROM THE SUN AND RECEIVES LITTLE LIGHT. ITS ORBIT IS VERY IRREGULAR, AND ONLY ONE TRIP IS MADE AROUND THE SUN IN 248 YEARS.

IN SIZE, PLUTO IS BELOVED TO BE SMALLER THAN THE EARTH. THE LARGEST TELESCOPES SHOW IT ONLY AS A POINT OF LIGHT.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

WE PASSED A FARM HOUSE A LITTLE WAY BACK... MAYBE YOU CAN GET SOME THERE!

WHAT KIN I DO FOR YOU, SONNY? I'M IN TROUBLE, MISTER! HAVE YOU GOT ANY GAS?

NARY A DROP! I DON'T EVEN OWN A CAR... SO I NEVER KEEP ANY GAS AROUND HERE!
